Baking powder at 25 cents or 30 cents a pound never ought to have been sold, because good baking powder is cheaper—does more for the money.

But now as the good times are coming back—as the newspapers say—the excuse for cheap baking powders is even less than ever.

At the time of the first accident Captain Pederson was thrown head first out of the boat. The wave receded but was followed immediately by a terrific roller which capsized the boat and threw all of its occupants out. Miss Carroll and a native sailor were caught under the boat and were engaged in this frightful death trap while it was being carried out, brought back and dashed upon the rocks. The first time it came the captain and men caught it and struggled to right it, but the well wrecker it from their grasp and it receded with the tide into the deeper water.

The second time the captain and men, injured and bleeding, seized the gunwale of the boat and by almost superhuman effort raised it up and looked underneath for Miss Carroll. At first only her hat, floating on the top, could be seen. Then one of the sailors espied an arm. He sprang and seized the young lady, drawing her out more dead than alive. Blood was trickling from a wound in the back of the head, and she was bruised and all but choked by the salt water.

She was taken over the rocks and boulders to the mainland and at once to the visitors' house, where she was attended by Dr. Wood and others. Dry clothes were provided by the Sisters of the Home, the wife of the Japanese keeper of the visitors' house loaned a kimono and one of the gentlemen in the party furnished a cap. In this general regalia Miss Carroll managed to make herself fairly comfortable. Dr. Burgess attended the wounded men. One of them was quite badly hurt and had to be sent to the hospital on the arrival of the party here.

The greatest difficulty was experienced in righting the capsized boat. The heavy and continuous surf breaking with such great violence upon the rocks made the task quite difficult. After about an hour of hard work she was righted, and, with the assistance of two other boats and a long line, was hauled upon the beach.

It took an hour and a half to re-embark the passengers. The task was accomplished with the greatest difficulty. The high seas breaking over the rocks and the wharf dashed the boats about, broke oars, parted lines, and, with the strong undertow, made the work very dangerous. All three of the ship's boats were badly battered and had they not been exceedingly stout would undoubtedly have been broken up into splinters.

The vessel sailed about six o'clock, and it was with thankful hearts that the company gathered on deck and watched the fading of the dangerous shore line as the darkness came on. The city was reached a half hour before midnight, and the Noeau deposited a very weary human aggregation on the Inter-Island wharf.

Miss Carroll was confined to her bed all of yesterday. She has suffered a great deal from her bruises, but was fortunately not seriously injured. The native crews of the boats deserve the highest praise for their work. A collection was made up for them on the return voyage.

THE PUBLIC HEALTH.

Some Sore Throats and Suffering Cases of Dysentery.

At the last meeting of the Board of Health President Smith asked Dr. Day and Wood as to the general condition of the public health.

Dr. Day replied that the prevailing disorder seemed to be sore throat, of which there were many cases. Some scattering cases of dysentery were also to be found, for which there was no apparent cause.

With regard to the fatal cases of dysentery at Pearl City strenuous efforts had been made to trace the causes which led to them, but nothing could be found. No other cases of the disease had occurred anywhere near Pearl City.
